Interim report on physics and detectors

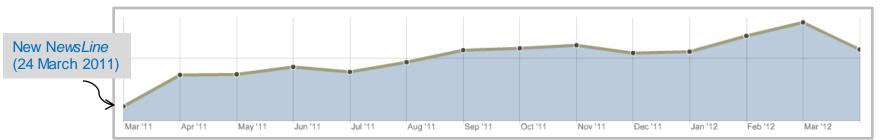

- ILC NewsLine is the pillar of ILC comms; cooperation with other lab and project publications (Fermilab Today, SLAC Today, CERN Bulletin, symmetry, EuCARD, DESY inForm,...)
 - Keep issuing since 8 June, 2005
 - 2160 subscribers (Americas 58%, Europe 31%, Asia 7%, +Unknown)
 - Changed format and system for more flexibility

Interactive ILC map:

2000 page views (first month only)

- -back-end database
- extensible to the futureLC organisation

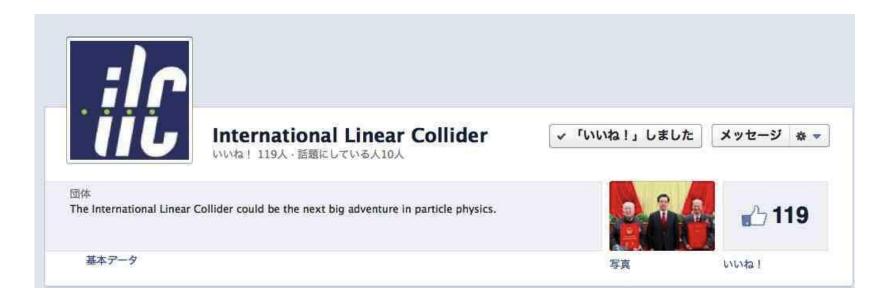

Social media

- Communicators launched ILC Official Facebook page and Twitter account in October 2011.
- More than 910 million active Facebook users (500 million mobile) and 140 million active Twitter users (380 million tweets/day) all over the world
 - Web-based social networking services make it possible to connect people who share interests and activities across political, economic, and geographic borders.

Social media

Social media

- 119 individuals like us on Facebook, and 192 people following us on Twitter.
 - But the ILC is run by 2,000 scientists.
 - Why aren't these numbers over 2,000???

- If you have Facebook/Twitter account, you know what to do. (If you don't, create one!)
 - Write your comment on the post, and share the information with your friend! It works!

Public events at conferences

Communicators have helped organizing public lectures

- public lecture at ALCPG09
- physics slam at ALCPG11
- Public lecture (in Spanish) LCWS11
- Will help organizing one at ALCPG12 in Texas

Activities toward TDR

 Planning to issue lay-language brochure, (still to be named)

- Established a "Think-tank"
 - 2 scientists from each region help/advice on the scientific contents.

Regional activities

 US is a hub of the global ILC communication, absolutely important for the communication in English.

 1st US physics slam was ILC event, which was very successful. 2 slammers from US, 22 March 2011- Eugene, - 800 visitors.

DESY

A test model of the collider magnet-tubes.

Nope, as another New Year rings in, we're going to have to go all the way down to the subatomic scale to get a handle on the mystery of mass, why stuff weighs what it does.

And while we were celebrating over the holiday season, the real race has kicked off in fundamental physics — a $10 billion one aimed at just this massive mystery — and it isn't to find the so-called "God Particle."

...a team facing challenges

We will lose US communicator, again!

- This is annoying, not because the remaining communicator need to work hard. Because the cut down of the communication would send wrong message to the public.
- Please consider the way to maintain the effective communication in the next stage of LC effort.
- Please give us your input, suggestion for story ideas, and guest stories are always welcome!

Thanks for your attention!
